COMET CLOSES DISTRIBUTION CENTRE

SCORES more jobs will be axed in Harlow when the administrators of electrical retailer Comet pull the plug on the firm's regional distribution centre later this week.

The sprawling warehouse complex on Edinburgh Way, which only opened two years ago, will be shut down tomorrow (Friday), leaving another 87 employees out of work.

It brings the total number of redundancies made across the company's Harlow operations – which also included a store at Harlow Retail Park – to 169.

Earlier this week, furious staff from the store contacted the Star to complain of "shoddy treatment" by administrators Deloitte.

Thirty jobs were axed at the branch last Wednesday. Despite promises that all employees would be offered "comprehensive support" to assist them in finding new employment, staff claimed they had been given no help at all.

Former sales advisor Lesley Starling, of Jocelyns, said: "When I read the comments made by the administrators in last week's Star my blood boiled.

"They claimed we'd been offered help with writing CVs and cover letters and had been put in touch with potential new employers, but it was all lies. From the moment we left work on Wednesday we haven't been given any support at all."

Ex-sales manager Recep Aslan, of Newhall, added: "We all worked overtime to get the store ready for closure last Wednesday, but when we received our pay packets we found we hadn't even been paid what we're owed.

"We've been given vague promises we'll get our money before Christmas but I just don't trust them. They've already lied to us about the CV workshops and interview skills seminars."

Dave Gould, a sales advisor who had worked at the store for over 13 years, said staff had been treated like slaves. "We were called in on the Saturday to be told the store was closing on Wednesday," he said. "There was no consultation," he added.

"I feel like I've been put in a dark room and poked with a stick. Christmas for me is a write-off now."

Their case has been taken up by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who yesterday (Wednesday) raised the issue directly with David Cameron during Prime Minister's Questions in the House of Commons.

He is also backing an e-petition set up by former staff calling for a Parliamentary investigation into allegations OpCapita, which took over the struggling firm in February, had

Memorial appeal for blaze victims

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

A KIND-hearted couple are calling on the town's residents to club together to fund a public memorial to the mother and five children who lost their lives in the Barn Mead house fire.

Neil and Donna Betteridge, of Abbotsweld, knew the Shakoor family through Abbotsweld School, where their son Ben was classmates with nine-year-old blaze victim Muneeb.

Left reeling by the tragedy – which police are now treating as murder – the couple have taken it upon themselves to set up a fund in the family's memory. They hope to raise £10,000 to pay for a permanent memorial to be installed in the school's playground.

"Muneeb was in my son's class and he cried for over a week because he misses him," said Donna. "Three of the children who lost their lives that day attended the school and every teacher, helper and child has found it very hard to come to terms with."

"The impact this has had on the community has been huge and so we decided that we would try and do something to keep the children's memory alive."

After meeting with Abbotsweld headteacher Lesley Lynn, the couple agreed to help the school raise money for playground equipment and friendship benches bearing inscriptions of the children's names.

Cab driver Neil explained: "The school were really grateful that we wanted to help out and together we came up with the idea of a playground memorial."

"We wanted something permanent that will be there for years to come to make sure the kids and their mum are never forgotten.

TRAGEDY: Donna Betteridge, above, and husband Neil want to raise £10,000 for a memorial to members of the Shakoor family, left, who lost their lives in the Barn Mead house fire

"It's likely to cost around £10,000 to get all the equipment so we really need local people to donate whatever they can. Any help will be much appreciated."

The couple will be holding a fundraising raffle during the school's Christmas bazaar on December 6, for which local residents and businesses have already donated more than 25 prizes.

The Harlow branch of Barclay's has also pledged to match money raised by the school's next fundraising events up to the sum of £750 each time.

"So far we've reached £1,185 in just over two weeks," Donna said. "We estimate the matched funding offered by Barclay's should hopefully get us to £3,000 but we'll still have a long way to go so need all the help we can get."

She added: "This family needs to be remembered; it's such a tragedy. None of us can possibly imagine what Dr Shakoor is going through."

"To lose one you love is terrible and hard to cope with but to lose your entire family is just unimaginable."

To make a donation to the Shakoor Memorial Fund, contact Neil or Donna at neil.donnab@sky.com or log on to the group's Facebook page.

'Someone in Harlow must know who did this'

POLICE investigating last month's arson attack have this week renewed their appeal for the public's help in bringing the killers of Dr Sabah Usmani and her five children to justice.

The fire, which tore through the family's end-of-terrace home in Barn Mead in the early hours of October 15, is believed to have been started deliberately and the investigation is now being treated as a murder inquiry.

The property was broken into shortly before the blaze started in the lounge area. Detectives believe the burglars may be responsible.

A stolen laptop bag belonging to sole survivor Dr Abdul Shakoor was later found dumped in bushes in a cut-through between St Michael's Close and Whitewaites, but police are still trying to trace a black Toshiba Satellite laptop taken in the raid.

Six teenagers aged between 16 and 19 seen outside the house on the night of the fire – two of whom were riding bikes – are also wanted for questioning.

Officers have been following up calls which were made after the case featured on the BBC's Crimewatch programme last Wednesday.

Speaking to the Star this week, senior investigating officer Detective Superintendent Rob Vinson urged anyone who knew the identity of those responsible to come forward.

"Someone in Harlow must know who did this but may be reluctant to come forward because of close ties or allegiances.

"My message to them would be to make an exception. This is no minor offence; we are dealing with a person or persons capable of killing five innocent children and their mother."

DS Vinson added that police were currently trying to establish whether two empty petrol cans found in bushes in the Barn Mead area were linked to the fire.

"It may be that these petrol cans had been there for some time and are nothing to do with the events of October 15, but we need local residents to let us know if this is the case."

He said that investigating officers were also trying to establish potential links between the fire and several other crimes committed in nearby neighbourhoods on the same night.

"There were burglaries in Tending Mews, Westfield and The Hides on the night of the fire, and a car was also set alight in Broadfield."

"Anyone with information about any of these crimes needs to contact us as they may hold vital clues to the identities of the killers."

Two rewards of £10,000 have been offered for information leading to convictions, one by Crimestoppers and the other by The Sun newspaper.

Craig survives assault course to raise hundreds for hospice

A HARLOW-based lawyer who took on a gruelling 10km urban assault course raised more than £500 for a hospice.

Craig Knightley, who works at Attwaters Jameson Hill solicitors in West Gate, competed in Men's Health magazine's survival of the fittest event in London.

Craig finished in a time of 66 minutes and 39 seconds.

"It was certainly a course to sort the men from the boys," he said. "Parts were extremely tough and having to go belly-down into a 20ft pool of water complete with ice cubes and drag myself along while also being drenched by a giant hose was no walk in the park!"

The money he raised will go to Isabel Hospice at Welwyn Garden City.

Joyti Henchie, head of family law at Attwaters Jameson Hill, said: "We're really proud of our Craig's determination to take part in this event and delighted he did so well.

"This is just one of many ways our staff have found to support the brilliant work of Isabel Hospice during 2012."

Trust to get a share of Pudsey's millions

A CHARITY which provides counselling and support for young people across Essex and East Herts is to receive a timely funding boost from Children In Need.

Young Concern Trust, which is based in Harlow and celebrates its 25th anniversary next year, will be given a slice of the £26.7m raised during last week's televised fundraising appeal on the BBC.

The final amount has yet to be disclosed, but it will be staggered over the next three years.

YCT Director Robert Locke said the organisation was thrilled with the much-needed cash boost, which has come at a time when the charity is finding it increasingly difficult to access funding it needs to continue offering its services.

"When so many Harlow people put so much effort into raising funds for Children in Need it's great to know that some of that crucial funding will be available to support local young people over the next three years," he said.

Meeting a need for more foster carers

WOULD-BE foster carers can find out more about the role at an information evening being held at the Latton Bush Centre tonight (Thursday).

Organised by Essex County Council, the event forms part of a recruitment drive to make up a major shortfall in the number of foster carers for children across West Essex.

More carers are needed to look after teenagers, groups of siblings, children with disabilities and youngsters seeking asylum.

Staff from the authority's fostering recruitment team and local foster carers will be on hand to answer questions from anyone interested in the role, which offers full training, on-going career development and a generous package of fees and allowances.

Ray Gooding, the county council's cabinet member for children's services said: "If you've ever considered fostering or know someone who might be interested, then make a date in your diary to go along and find out more."

For more information call 0800 801 530 or log on to www.essex.gov.uk/fostering.

Hospice lottery draw

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, November 23 is ticket holder 314279, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 237132, who also lives in Harlow.

Postcard art auction draws a lot of bids

SCORES of postcard-size pieces of art have been auctioned off to raise £700 for charity.

More than 50 people packed into Gatehouse Arts for the West Gate gallery's fundraiser, during which 169 of the mini masterpieces were up for grabs.

Hundreds of Harlow residents, local celebrities and aspiring artists from across the globe contributed to the project, creating their own postcards in a bid to raise money for St Clare Hospice and arts charity Association for Cultural Advancement through Visual Art.

The evening began with a speech from Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who was also given the opportunity to auction off the first piece of artwork.

Speaking afterwards, he said: "It was amazing. There is something very special about the Gatehouse Arts because what they do is new and unique.

"The fact that there were so many people here on a cold and dark night was great."

Mr Halfon himself sparked a bidding war for one postcard, titled Family Group by Henry Moore, created by artist Joan Joseph. The MP ended up paying £21 for the piece.

"I will be hanging the postcard in my room in the House of Commons," he said. "It will look great there."

Other lots also proved to be extremely popular among bidders. A blue ink drawing of a woman sold for £22, a pencil drawing of a swallow went for £31 and the highest bid of £51 went to a breathtaking 3D white ceramic piece.

Gatehouse resident artist Kien Voong, who shared auctioneer duties with Robert Jones, said: "This was a really great event and we're all thrilled at how well it turned out.

"I hope everyone enjoyed who attended enjoyed themselves."

Amanda Westbury, programme co-ordinator at Gatehouse Arts added: "Everything about the auction went over and beyond what we expected.

"I'd like to thank everyone who contributed, either by creating their own works of art or bidding for one of the pieces. Not only has this project managed to raise a fantastic amount of money for charity, it has also brought the whole community together."

'We won't give in' vow HWRA staff

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

DEFIANT staff at Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice service have vowed they will fight on to save the organisation from closure, despite being threatened with eviction by Harlow Council.

The authority had originally planned to take possession of the Advice Centre in East Gate on Friday afternoon after giving HWRA just two days notice to vacate the building.

But at the last minute repossession was delayed by the council's legal department, which sent out a letter on Friday evening stating the service's 12 employees could remain on the premises until December 7 to complete outstanding casework.

HWRA trustees said staff believe they have a legal right to remain on the premises while they challenge the council's cancellation of its contract.

They also remain hopeful the authority's decision to delay repossession signalled a change of heart over its intention to pull the plug on the organisation's core funding due to unpaid debts.

Les Coben, acting chairman of the Friends of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice, told the Star: "We believe that the council took advice and realised it would be acting prematurely to say the least, but we are also hopeful that this could signal the beginning of a change of heart."

"Harlow residents have demonstrated their support for this service, which is needed more than ever. Apart from anything else, if the council were to carry out a full cost-benefit exercise they would quickly see its coffers will suffer if they go

Lottery cash boost for mobility charity

A HARLOW-based charity working to keep elderly and disabled residents mobile has secured a £10,000 funding boost.

Shopmobility, which loans out scooters and wheelchairs to help less able-bodied shoppers access town centre stores, was awarded the grant from the Big Lottery Fund to meet the increasing demand for its services.

It has used the cash to purchase 12 new scooters, which are now available for customers to hire from its headquarters in Post Office Road.

Chairman Alan Rowe said: "The money has really helped us to help others."

"We can now offer our services to more people than ever before, giving invaluable freedom to residents who would otherwise struggle to access the town centre."

Mr Rowe unveiled the cheque at Harlow Town FC's Barrows

Farm ground in recognition of the support the club has given to the charity over the years.

"We're both local teams who depend on the support of Harlow's close-knit community, he said. "Neither of us could survive without it."

Mr Coben will be chairing a public meeting at St Paul's Church Hall in the town centre on Saturday. Starting at 11am, speakers will include Harlow Civic Society chairman Stan Newens, who played a key role in helping to set up the service back in the 1970s while serving as the town's MP, and sitting Labour councillor and UNISON member Waida Forman.

"We want all sections of the community to come along - young and old, former clients and those just interested in finding out what this is all about will be welcomed," Mr Coben added.

A council spokesman said yesterday (Wednesday): "We have no further comment at this time. We expect HWRA to communicate with our legal team if they wish to discuss any issues relating to this matter."

Cat killer strangled pet 'because she woke up wanting to hurt somebody'

A WOMAN who strangled her cat because she wanted to "hurt somebody" has been given a suspended jail sentence and banned from keeping animals for five years.

Sharlene Watts (28) admitted killing the cat called Smokey to a police community support officer after he noticed deep scratches on her arms.

Watts, whose address was given as the Oasis Hotel in Old Harlow, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Magistrates Court on Tuesday to causing the cat unnecessary suffering. She was sentenced to 12 weeks' imprisonment suspended for 12 months and ordered to pay £1,000 to cover prosecution and veterinary costs.

Stuart Cooper, prosecuting for the RSPCA, said the PCSO had been on foot patrol when Watts' partner reported her missing with their small child.

"Having spoken previously with her, he carried out a search and found her with her daughter," said Mr Cooper.

The officer noticed blood coming from deep scratches on her arms and she told him her cat had done it. Asked why, Watts replied: "It done it while I was strangling it."

Watts told the officer she had felt depressed when she woke that morning and wanted to hurt somebody. As her partner was not about she decided to 'slap the cat, but it resisted her grasp so she used a towel to catch it.

Mr Cooper went on: "The RSPCA went to Canons Brook and discovered where Smokey was buried in the garden. It was exhumed wrapped in the towel it was killed in."

"A post mortem showed bruising and suffering consistent with the defendant's description about how she strangled it."

Sarah Steggle, representing Watts, said in mitigation her client had mental health issues but was slowly putting her life back together after it had fallen apart.

She had now found accommodation, was taking medication, had supervised visits with her children and was talking to her estranged partner.

Ms Steggle continued: "She is horrified by what she has done but she has come a long way. She is aware she is facing a custodial sentence, but she does not want to go back to prison."

Speaking after the case, RSPCA inspector Rosie Russon said: "I see a lot of cruelty cases but this one has personally upset me greatly."

"It was unnecessary to have killed Smokey, who before this was a well-loved four-year-old cat that had been a family pet since he was a kitten."

Mobile unit to offer free health checks and advice

A MOBILE unit offering free health checks is on its way to Harlow town centre.

The unit, run by local community healthcare provider Anglian Community Enterprise, will be offering residents aged 40-74 tests to assess their risk of developing heart disease, diabetes, stroke and kidney disease.

The check-up will include measurement of blood cholesterol, blood pressure, body mass index and waist measurement.

A risk calculation is carried out and personalised advice then offered about how to stay healthy.

The unit will be in Broad Walk from December 3-9. Appointments are not essential but can be booked on (01206) 288538.

Homes go-ahead is a slap in the face for local residents

SIR, Being a local councillor is, or at least should be, about more than just parroting the line put out by the party HQ. Which is why I, as leader of the Conservative Party in Harlow, am willing to say what I think of the decision by the Secretary of State's office to uphold the planning inspector's view on the Gilden Way development.

It's a ridiculous slap in the face to the residents of Old Harlow and the thought of localism in the planning system. And that is why I will be fighting this decision with the Old Harlow councillors and my group as much as I can.

To be fair, the die was cast as far back as 2006 when the Labour council included the land as part of its local plan. I warned at the time this would lead to development of the site and indeed that is the key argument the Inspector based his decision upon.

So does this mean that Gilden Way is a done deal? Well, I still think that we can overturn this decision by the council pursuing a judicial review. We sought to do just that at the full council meeting on Thursday night as a matter of urgent business.

Despite the agenda of the meeting lasting just 15 minutes, leaving plenty of time to debate the issue fully, the council chairwoman felt the issue wasn't urgent enough and could be debated at the next full council in mid-December, leaving us dangerously short of time to seek the judicial review.

Consequently, the Conservative group submitted a formal letter demanding that a special full council be held to debate the issue. We have yet to receive a formal answer from the chairwoman but under council rules if she does not call a special meeting we can force one. Which, given the importance of this issue to local residents, we will do!

Houses for sale will not help to reduce the town's waiting list

SIR, Lucy Evennett's letter on housing waiting lists completely misunderstands the objections to the Gilden Way scheme (Star, November 22).

This development will do nothing to help those on Harlow's long waiting list; it is to build houses for sale. Even if some are "affordable" they'll merely be cheaper houses for sale, not for rent. Anyone able to buy a house can find plenty in the local estate agents' windows.

I and others told the inquiry that while Harlow does need more houses for those on the waiting list, these houses will not help. They are the wrong houses in the wrong place.

As for Eric Pickles' feeble excuse – he was against the scheme but signed the letter approving it – perhaps I should try that on my bank. "Yes I signed those cheques but I didn't mean to spend the money. I should have it back."

Do you think they'd believe me? No, neither do I.

Gilden Way decision should not be used to score political points

SIR, Opposition to the proposed development of Gilden Way has enjoyed cross-party support, with Harlow MP Robert Halfon working hard behind the scenes to prevent this unwelcome disfigurement of Old Harlow.

I am, therefore, disappointed but not surprised that the Labour Party has broken ranks to indulge in childish party political point scoring. The residents of Old Harlow will not appreciate nor forget if Labour should place political advantage above the interests of the local community.

The Secretary of State had no political control over what was, after all, a judicial decision and one made within the context of the 2006 Harlow Replacement Local Plan and the 2008 Regional Spatial Strategy Plan – both Labour documents.

Moreover, our defence of Gilden Way was not helped

Help us solve crime that shocked us all

An open letter to all Harlow residents

You will no doubt have heard the news reports regarding the fatal fire at 264 Barn Mead, Harlow. During the early hours of Monday, October 15 as a family slept, a burglary took place and their house was set on fire.

Dr Abdul Shakoor jumped from an upstairs window but his wife, Dr Sabah Usmani, and their five children all died. Their deaths are being treated as murder and a major police investigation has been launched.

We strongly believe that those responsible for this shocking crime are local and that the answers to what happened that night lie within the Harlow community. That is why we are writing this letter to ask for your help in solving these crimes.

As neighbours responded to the fire, a number of teenage boys were seen in Barn Mead near to the house. They have not come forward and we urgently need to speak with them. Do you know who they are? Their descriptions are as follows:

● four teenagers wearing tracksuits, hoodies and baseball caps. One of this group may be taller than the other three;

● a teenage boy 16-18 years old with ginger/light brown hair, riding a black pedal cycle;

● a teenage boy 15-18 years old riding a white or light coloured pedal cycle.

On the night of the fire there were other crimes committed in Harlow. These were burglaries in Tending Mews, Westfield and The Hides and a car fire in Broadfield. This is unusual and we therefore believe these crimes could be linked to the Barn Mead murders. Do you know anything about these offences?

Two days later, on October 17, two petrol cans were found by police search teams.

They were hidden in bushes further along Barn Mead. Do you know how they came to be there?

Eleven days later, on October 16, a laptop bag and Toshiba two-pin power lead which were stolen from 264 Barn Mead were found by children in a walkway between St Michael's Close and Whitewatts. How did they get there? Have you been offered a Toshiba laptop since the fire?

We recognise the impact these devastating crimes have caused in the community. Local officers, together with partners, are working closely in our neighbourhoods to provide support and reassurance at this difficult time.

Harlow is and remains a safe community to live in. You can speak to a neighbourhood officer between 8am and midnight at one of the mobile police stations now located at The Stow and Market Square or the mobile station at Barn Mead, which is open 24 hours a day. All three stations will be in place until December 1.

We are keen to obtain CCTV images for October 14 and 15 in the areas referred to above.

There is a significant reward for information leading to conviction but please, if you have heard or know anything at all, make contact with the police today.

We wish to reassure you of our continued commitment and thank you for your support.

Detective Superintendent Robert Vinson
Superintendent Luke Collison

by the fact that a previous Labour-controlled council actively pursued the development of Gilden Way some years back.

Having now made my own party political point I would ask that Harlow Council fully support the Conservative group's formal request for a judicial review.

It is a great pity that Labour members prevented the council from debating the matter last week. After all, our meeting only lasted 15 minutes so we had the time. Do Labour members have the interest?

HWRA is not alone in facing diminishing sources of funds

SIR, With reference to Cllr Simon Carter's letter ("Other organisations can live within their means", November 22), he may wish to add another advice article to the one he referred to as being unable to live within its means.

The following was reported to the annual general meeting of Harlow Citizens Advice Bureau last Tuesday, November 20: "The major risks identified by the trustees are the difficulty in attracting sufficient income to enable the bureau to provide the core generalist advice service which is needed in the community. Our core services less the core funding results in a potential loss each year... next year's budgeted loss is a whopping £29,560. The difficulty experienced by many voluntary agencies is in attracting suitable volunteers."

That last point is a sad truth; not everyone can be a volunteer. Until retirement pensions arrive, most people are required to meet the costs of staying alive and rearing families, and keeping the economy going by paying taxes and spending. And that is without considering the high level of continuous experience and qualifications needed for the specialist advice and representation work that Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice provides.

Another sad truth is that attracting sufficient funding requires unremitting effort to tap diminishing funding sources.

While the CAB's predicted loss is also sad, it is not surprising. Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice can sympathise only too well. For HWRA, it has been the unpredicted setbacks that have affected budgets. For example, when the county court decamped to Chelmsford, paid-for work done by HWRA went. When a major funder changed its criteria, there was a reduction in the work HWRA could do. Anticipated grant payments were made far later than reasonably expected. The Legal Services Commission also cut the payments made for fixed fees by 10 per cent in October 2011.

Sadly there are further legal aid cuts planned from April 2013. These significant setbacks are not insurmountable but they do have an impact that takes time to manage.

The heavy-handed, vicious intervention sanctioned by councillors, who live among the very people that HWRA helps, is the most demoralising example of local "democracy" I have observed in more than 50 years in Harlow. All HWRA workers have done is to work for the benefit of Harlow, despite the increasingly difficult circumstances they have been placed in.

It appears that councillors may have been provided with inaccurate information. Time will tell whether appropriate and urgent action is taken to rectify the situation.

Chancellor's record on fuel tax shows the Treasury is listening

SIR, I appreciate Nick Gunning's kind comments about my work with Harlow charities (Letters, November 22). However, he appears to misunderstand my stance on fuel duty.

I voted for the Government motion in the House of Commons because it emphasised the high price of petrol and diesel and pledged to do everything possible to reduce the cost of living.

The Labour Party motion, whilst making some temporary headlines, called for a freeze of just three months. Its effect would have meant that petrol and diesel duty would have gone up by a whopping seven pence after April 2013. This is because in Labour's budget of 2010 they planned two fuel duty rises in 2013 – in January and April.

For information, I have also tabled three Commons motions of my own calling for a cut in fuel duty, none of which have attracted much support from Labour.

Mr Gunning should also note that when the Government cut fuel duty last year, the Labour Party actually voted against the cut. Even with the VAT rise the facts are that in tax terms (albeit not in totality) it is 10 pence cheaper than it would have been had the Chancellor followed through Labour's fuel duty plans.

I am proud of my record in working hard for Harlow residents in campaigning for lower fuel duty since I was elected. This has resulted in a fuel duty cut in 2011 and the Government cancelling two planned fuel duty rises in 2012 through using Parliamentary pressure and getting over 80 MPs to support a Commons motion.

I have also helped to force the Office of Fair Trading launch an inquiry into the uncompetitiveness of the oil industry in keeping prices high at the pump. That inquiry will report in January 2013.

One final point. The decision on fuel duty can only be made next week when the Government announces the Autumn Statement. It is not, as Mr Gunnell states, a rise of one pence that is being considered but whether Labour's planned rise of three pence will be cancelled.

Given the Chancellor's record in cutting fuel duty and freezing the duty twice, I do believe that the Treasury is in listening mode. Let us wait till then and see who really is on the side of the hard-pressed motorist.

Nothing secret about Santa-stic fun run

HUNDREDS of fundraisers will be changing into Santa suits and lining up for a 4km run in aid of St Clare Hospice next weekend.

Organisers of the annual Christmas fun run, which this year takes place in the grounds of the Secret Nuclear Bunker near Ongar a week on Sunday (December 9) are hoping to raise sackloads of cash for the Hastingwood hospice.

Among those taking part for the third year running will be Team Thomas - parents Stefan and Anita and their children Patrick and Meg, pictured left - who have raised hundreds of pounds for St Clare.

"We are always excited to sign up," said Stefan. "It's a great chance to get in the festive spirit, do some exercise as a family and also raise money for a very worthwhile cause."

"There is something special about seeing a large group of Santas running that is uplifting for participants, spectators and passers-by. Hopefully it prompts awareness and helps with fundraising, too!"

Anita added: "This is our third Santa Fun Run and it's starting to become a bit of a tradition. We invite a bunch of family over, cook a big meal and have fun running around dressed up. "Christmas can be a poignant time and this is a brilliant way to remember family and friends as well as raise money for this wonderful charity."

Grace Clutton, events fundraiser for St Clare Hospice, said events like the Santa Run were vital to keep the hospice going.

"We can only continue to provide specialist care and assist families in this way through the generosity and support of the community we care for," she said

The fun run starts from the secret bunker car park at 11am. Registration costs £15 for adults (16 years and above) and £5 for children.

Every adult signing up will receive a free Santa suit and every child will receive a free Santa hat. To register, visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk or call (01279) 773750.

Rail firm rolls out free station WiFi

RAIL passengers will soon be able to surf the net while waiting for their train using a free WiFi internet connection.

Train operator Greater Anglia is working with public access WiFi provider The Cloud, to introduce the service at 100 stations across its network, including Harlow Town, Harlow Mill and Sawbridgeworth.

It will be rolled out over the next few months and will allow commuters and passengers to use the fast and free connection for anything from email access to web browsing.

Customer service director Andrew Goodrum said the initiative was part of a package of customer service improvements to be introduced across the franchise.

"We have been focusing our efforts on improving customer service and offering our customers free WiFi is an important part of this as we recognise the internet is a vital part of people's everyday lives," he said.

Greater Anglia customers will be able to connect to The Cloud using any WiFi enabled device for one hour a day at participating stations.

Near miss as second horse breaks tether

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL chiefs are being urged to put a stop to the illegal roadside tethering of horses in Harlow after another runaway animal caused havoc this week.

Less than a month after one horse was killed by a car on Katherine's Way, a second incident on the same stretch of road on Tuesday afternoon almost resulted in another death.

Motorist Janice Russell had a terrifying near miss when a horse charged out into the road in front of her as she approached the junction with Third Avenue in driving rain.

She managed to slam on her brakes just in time to avoid hitting the animal, which then bolted into trees on the opposite side of the road.

"It really shook me up, I only just missed it," the 62-year-old told the Star. "When the horse ran out into the road I really thought I wouldn't be able to avoid it, especially as it was raining at the time."

"I just managed to put my brakes on in time. If I'd been driving any faster I would have hit it, no question."

"But because I'd read the story in the Star about the horse being killed a couple of weeks back I was taking extra care while driving along Katherine's Way. Thank goodness I did."

Left shaken by the incident, Janice pulled up near the Third Avenue roundabout and immediately telephoned the police to inform them a horse was on the loose.

FLASHBACK: Star, November 8

"I think it's absolutely crazy that people can get away with tying up their horses so close to the road," she said. "If it's illegal then why aren't the authorities putting a stop to it?"

"The fact that nothing has been done about this problem since that terrible accident earlier this month is disgraceful. I could have been seriously injured and another horse could be dead."

After weeks of apparent uncertainty over the ownership of the land where the horses are currently being kept, Essex County Council yesterday (Wednesday) finally took responsibility.

A spokesman confirmed it would now be contacting owners to seek the safe removal of the horses and warned anyone refusing to comply would have their animals impounded.

"Whilst we acknowledge that horses have been regularly tethered on public open spaces in Harlow for a number of years, our recent investigations have determined that the land in both Katherine's Way and Third Avenue is in fact highway land. It is, therefore, illegal to tether horses in these locations," he said.

"Given the recent serious incident in which a horse was killed, we have been working with our partners to establish ownership of the horses to seek their safe removal. If we are unable to establish ownership, we will have no other option but to arrange for formal enforcement action leading to removal of the horses."

deliberately run the business into the ground.

"I have been contacted by lots of former Comet staff very unhappy at the way they have been treated and will do everything I can to help them," Mr Halfon said.

"There are serious questions about how this business has been run that need answering and I will be raising this in Parliament at the earliest opportunity."

Joint administrator Chris Farrington told the Star yesterday all former staff would be paid any money outstanding by the end of December. He also said Deloitte had now set up an employee assistance programme to help them find new employment.

"I can confirm that any accrued holiday pay, overtime and bonus earned during the administration trading period, together with the pre-administration bonus that was owed to employees at the time of our appointment, will be paid to employees as previously stated," he said.

"A dedicated helpline is in place for all employees and the company is running an employee assistance programme to help those staff made redundant find other jobs."

"As part of this programme, the company has established relationships with more than 35 prospective employers who are keen to offer roles to ex-Comet employees and is actively working to introduce redundant Comet employees to these employers."

Penguins, panto st Harlow lights up

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THOUSANDS of people converged on the town centre as panto dames, a troupe of live penguins and stars of TV reality show The Only Way Is Essex helped light up Harlow for Christmas.

This year's switch-on celebrations organised by Harlow Town Centre Partnership proved a real cracker, with live music and entertainment at three time-staggered events on Thursday.

The fun started in Broad Walk at 3pm, where children created a dazzling array of hand-made Christmas decorations at an arts and craft workshop.

Youngsters from the Harlow Rock School then took centre stage to warm up the crowds for the main event, which saw the cast of Playhouse panto Jack & The Beanstalk join Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop switch on the lights in The High.

Attention then moved into the warmth of the Harvey Centre where there was a chance to meet Santa and his reindeer and TOWIE stars James 'Arg' Argent and Gemma Collins, who arrived to sign autographs for screaming fans of the ITV2 series.

Club singer Arg then grabbed a microphone and belted out a few Christmas classics before the shopping centre's lights were turned on.

The fun continued into the evening at The Water Gardens, where shoppers were greeted by a troupe of live penguins and enjoyed live performances from local dance group Hip Hop Pop, the St Mark's West Essex Catholic School choir and hotly-tipped boyband FTW.

Hundreds then stayed on to take advantage of the first in a series of late-night shopping events, which will be held every Thursday in the town centre in the run-up to Christmas.

Clr Hulcoop said: "It was a very enjoyable evening full of entertaining sights and sounds.

"Residents braved the windy weather to show their enthusiasm for the acts and celebrity guests, while the reindeer and penguins were a particular hit with youngsters and families."

Heath's teaching pups social skills

By BIANCA CASTRO
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PUPPY trainer is helping to teach young dogs new tricks at classes designed to curb the alarming number of dog-on-dog attacks in Harlow.

Heath Ross (32), pictured right, of Little Grove Field, runs the weekly 45-minute sessions in St Mary's Church Hall with the aim of training puppies to know how and when to control themselves.

"It's about prevention rather than cure," he said. "I want to teach these dogs early on how to be sensible while still having fun."

"The two main things that I want these dogs to learn is socialisation and bite inhibition so that they will be able to control themselves in all situations."

"Much of the reason why we see so many dog-on-dog attacks in the town is because these animals haven't been socialised or trained properly. This is what I make clear in my classes."

Exercises like 'pass the puppy' help accustom the dogs to new people and keep them calm. Socialisation plays a key part in Heath's sessions, which are always conducted with dogs off their leads.

"It isn't all about teaching them to sit or lay down, he said. "The obedience, early on, is secondary; the dogs are here to have fun."

"That's why socialisation is the bigger focus in the younger puppy classes. The obedience gets harder as the dogs get older so that they still associate being good with fun and enjoyment."

One dog owner who has already noticed a change in her pet's behaviour is childcare assistant Keri Burns (27). She attends the classes with her four-month-old pug Aurora.

"Aurora has already improved after three weeks and she's really good outside and when she interacts with other dogs," said Keri.

"My main aim now is to get her to come to me when I call her name. Then I'll be really happy!"

A dog owner all his life, Heath added: "Training is a continual thing but the earlier you start the better, with as much exposure as possible. Up until the dog is 18 weeks old is best."

"My top tip for training your dog is to not say anything. You want the dogs to know words are meaningful – chanting 'sit' will not be meaningful. Get the behaviour from the dog and then name it."

For more information on Heath's puppy classes, visit his website at www.hpd.co.uk.

Frock shop that's more than just fancy dress...

PARTY TIME:
Colin Gates in the new shop

A MUM-and-son team are hoping to have Christmas all wrapped up after opening a new fancy dress shop in time for the party season.

Fancy Frocks R Us, co-owned by Julie Mead and her 19-year-old son Jordan, is a one-stop shop for party planners, stocking everything from fancy dress costumes to accessories including balloons, banners and confetti.

It also stocks women's plus-size clothing including discontinued lines from high street stores Evans and Ann Harvey.

Julie, who works alongside partner Colin Gates and her son at the shop in the Service Bays area at The Stow, said: "Jordan recognised how popular fancy dress was; he is the real mastermind behind Fancy Frocks.

"He plans a lot of party events and realised there was a gap in the market for a high-quality fancy dress store in Harlow."

"We got a huge amount of stock at the shop and we also have an instore catalogue with more than 1,000 costumes and accessories to choose from, all with free and speedy local delivery."

"But it's not just party gear. Our unique selling point is our fantastic range of ladies' plus size clothing – we've got a great selection of items for the larger lady with some lines going up to size 36."

Andy stakes reputation on selling the best meat

A NEW butcher shop is hoping to outmuscle the supermarkets after carving out a niche for itself at The Stow.

Specialising in fresh local meat at competitive prices, The Stow Butchers opened earlier this month with help from former Mr Universe Neale Cranwell. And he isn't the only customer to have been impressed with the quality of produce on offer. Manager Andy Andreas said he was confident his business could compete with the big boys by offering a tasty alternative to the "plastic meat" served up by supermarkets.

"Business has been good so far," he said. "I have had really good feedback from customers."

"We sell fresh, locally-sourced meat at affordable prices and we now have fresh turkeys in stock ready for Christmas."

"We've already sold quite a few and I'm sure we'll have more interest." Andy added: "Fresh meat is what people want. It's a world away from supermarket meat, which often looks like plastic and tastes like plastic."

Although budget supermarket chain Aldi is set to open a new store in The Stow next year, Andy said he isn't worried about the competition.

"A bit of competition is always good," he said. "We have an excellent product and it's just about getting people to know we are here."

Panto's popular with care home residents

A HARLOW care home's Christmas panto reached new heights this year when staff and volunteers starred in the production of Jack & The Beanstalk.

Organised by staff at Ashlyn Care Home in Vicarage Wood to raise money for the centre's activities fund, the opening night was so well-received by the elderly residents that many returned for the second performance the following day.

Activities co-ordinator Debbie Baker, who starred as Jack, said they had raised £238 which will be put towards art and craft supplies, entertainment, activities and days out.

"We had great fun putting on this panto for the residents," said Debbie. "They liked it so much that some of those who saw the first performance on the Saturday wanted to see it again on the Sunday.

"We are very lucky here to have such great support from staff, families and friends. We would not be able to put on something like this without their help."

We could have had more time with our son...

RELATIVES of a young man who died in hospital four days after suffering a stroke and collapsing in the street have questioned why it took so long for him to be transferred to a specialist unit.

Drug user Liam Tohill (26), of Common Fields, Harlow, was transferred as a non-urgent case from Princess Alexandra Hospital but deteriorated suddenly in the ambulance taking him to Queen's Hospital in Romford, falling into a deep coma.

His family have raised concerns over a two-hour delay between the decision to transfer him and an ambulance being requested.

An inquest at Chelmsford Coroner's Court also heard that a nurse wrongly stated she was phoning from Colchester hospital and not PAH. As a result, an ambulance went to the wrong hospital, causing a further delay before a second vehicle was dispatched.

Mr Tohill underwent an operation at Queen's to relieve pressure on his brain, but it was claimed that his chances of survival might have been slightly improved if he had been transferred earlier.

Liam's mother, Gillian, said she and her husband were told at 7.20pm on October 22, 2010 their son would be at the Romford hospital by 9pm and they repeatedly phoned the emergency assessment ward for updates.

"We were going to follow the ambulance because we were five minutes from the hospital and that's the thing we now have to live with," she said. "We could have stayed there. We only went home because they told us they were preparing him and we thought we would get in the way."

"We would have stayed there and if his condition had deteriorated we could at least have spent more time with him. We lost that and we can never get that back."

Mr Tohill's condition deteriorated and he died on October 24. Cause of death was given as the stroke.

The inquest heard Mr Tohill, who took methadone and heroin, collapsed in the street while walking with his girlfriend. He had suffered a stroke to the right hand side of his brain.

A hospital consultant advised he should be transferred to Romford for continued observations, but giving evidence nurse Christine Nicolas said she could not remember why she did not ring for an ambulance until 9.24pm or why she had referred to Colchester hospital.

Rajinda Burt, PAH's lead nurse in accident and emergency, told the coroner she would have expected an ambulance to be called within one hour of the decision.

Paramedic Casey-Louise Holding, who was in the second ambulance dispatched, said she was told Liam's condition had not changed since he had been in PAH's emergency assessment unit.

She said he was very agitated and she spent the journey to Romford calming him down, adding: "Then all of a sudden his respiratory rate just changed. He vomited and started having a seizure."

Consultant neurosurgeon Raghu Vindlacheruvu told the inquest Mr Tohill's substance abuse would not have affected his chance of recovery.

Recording a narrative verdict Essex deputy coroner Eleanor McGann said that while Mr Tohill's condition in PAH was stable, he was agitated because he was withdrawing from methadone and heroin. The advice from the Romford hospital was to transfer him for observations.

His notes were copied before an ambulance was arranged, but it went to Colchester hospital instead of PAH because of mistaken information. Mr Tohill's condition then deteriorated very rapidly and as a result an emergency decompression operation was carried out.

Ms McGann continued: "Because of his condition Liam had only a 50 per cent chance of survival. He may have had a slightly better chance if he had already been at Queen's when he started fitting."

Clearance work commences at busy roundabout junction

PREPARATORY work has started this week at the Burnt Mill roundabout in Harlow as part of a scheme to ease congestion at the busy junction.

Initial groundwork clearance of the site, including the removal of trees and vegetation, is taking place ahead of the start of major improvement works in January.

The project at the busy junction between Elizabeth Way, Fifth Avenue and Edinburgh Way will be split into two phases.

The first, beginning in the new year, will involve re-routing utility services. The second, which is pencilled in to start in May, will see the carriageway layout significantly altered.

The centre island will be made smaller and an additional left turn lane to Elizabeth Way will be created. It is hoped this will increase road capacity and help traffic flow.

A new toucan crossing on the A414 will also improve pedestrian and cyclist safety.

Incredible floating house

AN intrepid adventurer has copied the film Up by taking to the skies in a house attached to hundreds of helium balloons.

American Jonathan Trappe (38) staged the wacky stunt ahead of a planned voyage across the Atlantic Ocean.

He showed off his floating house at the Leon International Balloon Festival in Mexico, telling reporters it was a warm-up for an ambitious 2,500-mile flight he will attempt next summer, when he plans to fly across the Atlantic Ocean in a 7ft lifeboat carried by 365 helium balloons.

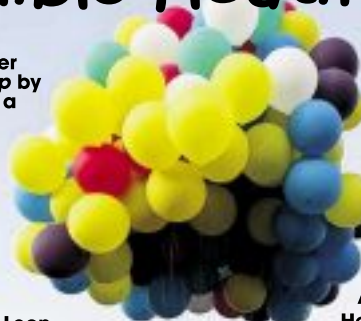

"I didn't wake up one day and think I'm going to fly across the Atlantic," he said. "Every attempt before this was geared towards this flight. I've been training for a long time."

In 2010 he became the first person to fly the English Channel attached to helium-filled balloons and he has also crossed the Alps in similar fashion.

He is now hoping to use the huge public interest in his previous adventures to raise the $300,000 he needs to buy the special UV-resistant balloons he will need for his record-breaking flight.

He is also learning how to sail a lifeboat in case he needs to ditch into the ocean during the danger-filled mission.

Day the space shuttle halted traffic on M11

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

DO you remember the day Harlow had a visitor from outer space?

It was June 5, 1983 when NASA's first space shuttle flew over the town before touching down at Stansted Airport during a whistlestop tour of Europe.

This photograph sent in by reader Zulqar Cheema, of Berecroft, shows the pioneering craft – named the Enterprise after the ship in TV's Star Trek – riding piggyback on a jumbo jet at the airport.

The picture also gives some sense of the excitement generated by the once-in-a-lifetime event, which saw more than 200,000 people flock to Stansted to catch a glimpse of the amazing space vehicle.

"I can remember it being a really hot and hazy day," said Cheema, an accomplished cameraman who can be seen on the left of the photo lugging his tripod and equipment back to his car, accompanied by then-girlfriend Debbie Talbot and her dog Sadie.

"I'd managed to get some video footage of the shuttle riding piggyback on the 747 before heading to the airport to catch a glimpse of it close-up.

"It was absolutely rammed that day. There must have been at least 200,000 people and I can remember the traffic on the M11 being horrendous because everyone was trying to get into the airport."

According to a report published in our sister paper, the Herts & Essex Observer, four days later, the spectacle caused five-mile tailbacks on the motorway. Many people got out of their cars to catch a glimpse of the 80-ton shuttle's arrival.

When it landed, about 200 people broke through a safety barrier and ran towards the runway, forcing ground staff and police to step in and stop the excited spectators just a few hundred yards from the Tarmac.

"There were a few people who got a bit too excited, but on the whole I remember it being a really peaceful, family event," said Cheema. "It's certainly not something you see every day."

He added: "Back then you could drive right up to the terminal, park your car practically on the runway and then hop on a plane.

"It was a world away from the tight security measures and extortionate parking charges of the airport today. It's quite amazing to see how it has grown since the 1980s."

The Enterprise's international tour took in France, Germany, Italy, Britain and Canada before returning to the USA where it was taken to California, Alabama and Louisiana.

Parts from the shuttle were later used for various endurance tests before it was restored and moved to the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum in Dulles, Washington, where it is now the centrepiece of the space collection.

● Do you remember the day the space shuttle came to Essex? Do you have any pictures or recollections of the event? If so, write to Nostalgia at 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email star@hertsexnews.co.uk.

Memories of new town's café society

IT could be a scene from a Parisian café, a mother enjoying a café-crème on a warm spring day as her children tuck into a tasty patisserie.

But this delightful photo was in fact taken outside Moot House in The Stow in 1953 – a time when the town's first dedicated community centre also operated a bustling tea room.

Reproduced here with permission from the Mark Hall & Netteswell Community Association, the picture is a wonderful reminder of the fascinating post-war history of the Grade II listed building. According to MHNCA secretary Alain Fournier, the Moot House café was a popular meeting place for some of the new town's first residents.

"Although this photo was taken some time before I came to live in Harlow, I understand from our archives that this café was particularly popular in the early years," he said.

"It is a wonderful, almost continental scene and hopefully it will bring back memories for those who used to sit outside and enjoy a drink at Moot House."

● Do you remember visiting the café at Moot House? Send your photos and recollections from years gone by to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email star@hertsexnews.co.uk.

Bishop upset by synod's 'no' vote

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE Bishop of Chelmsford has apologised for the "hurt and confusion" caused by the general synod's vote against the appointment of women as bishops.

Speaking after the proposal was rejected last Wednesday, the Right Reverend Stephen Cottrell said public trust in the Church of England had been shaken by the 'no' vote.

"We look like an organisation that discriminates against women," he said.

In last week's ballot both the House of Bishops and the House of Clergy came out in favour of women bishops, but the House of Laity voted 132-74 against.

The vote in the House of Laity – which is the largest element of the general synod and is made up of lay members of the church elected by its 44 dioceses – fell short of the required majority by just six.

In the Bishop of Chelmsford's diocese, which includes Harlow, 32 per cent of clergy are female.

"The Church of England decided years ago that there were no fundamental theological objections to women becoming

AS the last leaves cling to the trees and autumn fades into the distance, this photograph is a snapshot of the changing seasons.

It was sent in by reader Denise Pike, of St John's Avenue, Old Harlow.

"This is a picture taken in the woods at Newhall near Church Langley with my husband and my dogs in the background," she writes. "I just thought it summed up the change of season perfectly!"

● Do you have a photo taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section? If so, we would love to see it.

bishops but we have failed to agree how to make it happen," he said.

"Because we do not want to exclude a minority of people who still disagree with this development we seek consensus in our decision-making. Sadly we did not quite reach the two-thirds majority in each of our houses that was needed for women to become bishops.

"I accept this decision but I am sorry for the hurt and confusion it has caused. It is not how I wanted things to turn out."

He said the church's credibility had been damaged and there was now a need to rebuild trust.

"I am concerned for the many hundreds of women clergy who serve with me in Essex and east London," he said. "Why would a woman seek ordination in a church which seems to legitimise doubt over their very validity as a minister of the gospel, where opportunity to minister is limited and where protection from their ministry is sought in law? No other organisation in society is allowed to act this way.

"Thankfully I know the answer to this question. Women seek ordination because they are called by God and with astonishing graciousness bear this painful ambiguity."

The bishop added he planned to hold a champagne breakfast in the wake of the decision.

"There is a long-standing Christian tradition of offering praise in the face of adversity," he explained. "A champagne breakfast will offer the chance to celebrate women's ministry as well as discuss the current situation."

Panto cast counting down to opening night

SHOW TIME: Danielle Black and JezO, two of the stars of this year's Playhouse panto

BRACE yourself for a tall tale this Christmas as Harlow Playhouse prepares to stage its biggest pantomime to date.

The cast of Jack & The Beanstalk have started rehearsals for the seasonal show's month-long run – and the special effects team are warning audiences to expect the unexpected!

Leading this year's dazzling production will be BBC children's television star Pui Fan Lee as Jack, who will be embarking on a colossal adventure above the clouds in a race to save Daisy the cow and friends from the clutches of an evil Giant.

Pui will be joined on stage by some of the UK's leading panto talent in Tom Beard (Monsieur Loyal), Kevin James (Fleshcreep), JezO (Billy) and songstress Natalie Douglas (Fairly Eco-Friendly), while Danielle Black – last seen playing Cinderella at the Playhouse three years ago – returns to the stage as Jack's love interest, Jill.

Director Nicholas Collett, who will also take the role of Dame Trott, said production company The Jack Consortium were determined to make the panto a show to remember.

"After planning the show with the team over the past six months it's great to finally have the cast and crew together in rehearsals to pull all the exciting elements together," he said.

"This is a wonderful version of the story with surprises and thrills along the way, with some really moving sections too."

Playhouse manager Scott Ramsay added: "The show's coming together beautifully and we're looking forward to entertaining the crowds with music, dance, jokes and magic. The scale of some of the effects are amazing."

More than just A Christmas Carol

By CHRIS MOSS

GET into the Christmas spirit at Victoria Hall next month as the Old Harlow theatre spreads some seasonal cheer with a new production of a Charles Dickens classic.

On the 200th anniversary of the author's birth, what better way to celebrate the most wonderful time of the year than to immerse yourself in A Christmas Carol?

For local playwright and director Simon Mawdsley, adapting the timeless tale of one man's greed and redemption for the theatre's Christmas show was a no-brainer. "When I was approached to direct this year there was never any doubt in my mind as to what I wanted to do," he said. "A Christmas Carol is such a perfect fit, not just because of Dickens' 200th birthday but also because of the venue itself, which is a wonderful Victorian building."

He added: "It's such a well-told story, and I think that's the key to its enduring resonance today. Not only is it a truly life-affirming, heart-warming tale, it is also a brilliantly-crafted exploration of the human condition."

"It's a story that everyone can relate to in some way, and I think it will always be that way."

Simon's adaptation will stick closely to the original novella, which was first published in 1843, and the director will seek to immerse audiences in a winter wonderland from the moment they walk through the door.

"I want this to be a real experience for members of the audience, to give them something that will really get them into the Christmas spirit before they've even sat down," said Simon.

"There'll be carol singers, mince pies and mulled wine from the moment people walk in to the foyer. It'll be more than just a play."

WHAT THE DICKENS: Steve Foster as Scrooge and Molly Jenkins as the Ghost of Christmas Past in A Christmas Carol (photo: HAR0877595)

Steve Foster, who can currently be seen along with several other members of the cast on Sky Arts reality TV show The Nation's Best AmDram – will reprise the role of Scrooge, a part he last played in Harlow Theatre Company's Christmas production several years ago.

According to Simon, the 62-year-old was born to play the part – and it is certainly a role the seasoned actor is relishing.

"Television has been a fascinating experience but for me it can never beat the spontaneity of appearing on stage, particularly in something like A Christmas Carol," he said.

"The character of Scrooge is a delight to play and the way Dickens unfolds his path to redemption never ceases to lift the spirits."

● A Christmas Carol opens at Victoria Hall Theatre on Wednesday, December 12 and runs until December 22. Performances start at 7.30pm, with matinee shows on selected dates beginning at 2.30pm.

For more details and to buy tickets, log on to www.victoriahalltheatre.co.uk or call (01279) 420062.

Dickens classic fails to live up to expectations

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

certificate 12A, running time 2h08m

EXPECTATIONS were certainly great when Mike Newell announced this lavish retelling of the Charles Dickens classic to coincide with the bicentenary of the writer's birth.

David Nicholls, author of Starter For Ten and One Day, penned the script and some of the brightest stars of the British acting firmament were confirmed as the book's memorable protagonists.

Confirming all of the promise, Great Expectations was chosen for the coveted closing night gala of last month's BFI London Film Festival. But as the characters in Nicholls' screenplay learn to their cost, life is full of disappointments and Newell's film has a fair few.

Arriving less than a year after the BBC's well-crafted three-part adaptation, it is both sluggish and slavish. Crucially, it fails to outshine David Lean's seminal 1946 version, even with John Mathieson's magnificent cinematography and Jason Fleming's endearing portrayal of honest blacksmith Joe Gargery.

Orphan Pip (Jeremy Irvine) has a disturbing encounter with escaped convict Magwitch (Ralph Fiennes) in the marshes close to the home he shares with his haughty sister (Sally Hawkins) and her husband (Fleming).

The boy agrees to steal food for Magwitch but police eventually apprehend the suspect. Soon after, Pip is dispatched to visit the reclusive Miss Havisham (Helena Bonham Carter), who requires a playmate for her ward, Estella (Holliday Grainger).

At first Pip is scared of Miss Havisham, but once he meets Estella his fear is replaced by infatuation and he falls under the spell of the girl.

Some years later, lawyer Mr Jaggers (Robbie Coltrane) informs Pip that a mysterious benefactor has paid for the lad to become a gentleman. Pip excitedly takes up lodgings with Herbert Pocket (Olly Alexander) and slowly gains a foothold in London society, where he crosses paths once again with Estella and cannot conceal the torch he still carries for her.

Great Expectations is undoubtedly a handsome rendering of the novel but there is little in the screenplay that we haven't seen before. Richard Hartley's soundtrack swoons in all the right places but only faintly strums our heartstrings.

Irvine is an appealing leading man and David Walliams offers fleeting comic relief as Uncle Pumblechook, but Bonham Carter's anaemic portrayal of eternal bride Miss Havisham is emblematic of a film covered in the cobwebs of previous adaptations.

Neither the best of times, nor the worst of times, Newell's vision falls somewhere in between.

GAMBIT Mild-mannered art curator Harry Deane (Colin Firth) grows tired of the constant bullying of his obscenely wealthy boss, Lord Lionel Shabandar (Alan Rickman), so he concocts an elaborate swindle to teach his employer a lesson. With the help of loyal friend and forger The Major (Tom Courtenay), Harry travels to Texas to befriend rodeo queen PJ Puzowski (Cameron Diaz). Harry asks the blonde beauty to pose as the owner of a priceless painting which Shabandar is desperate to acquire as a companion canvas to others in his private collection. The masterpiece is actually a fake painted by The Major but Harry is convinced he can pull the wool over Shabandar's greedy eyes.

SILVER LININGS PLAYBOOK School teacher Pat Solitano (Bradley Cooper) returns home to discover his wife Nikki (Brie Larson) in the shower with another member of the faculty. He batters his wife's lover to a bloody pulp and is banished to a psychiatric facility for eight months as part of his plea bargain. Returning home to Philadelphia to live with his father Pat Sr (Robert De Niro) and mother Dolores (Jacki Weaver), Pat is determined to overcome his wife's restraining order and win her back. Then best friend Ronnie (John Ortiz) introduces Pat to his sister-in-law, Tiffany (Jennifer Lawrence), a young widow who reacted to her husband's death by sleeping with all of her co-workers.

NATIVITY 2: DANGER IN THE MANGER St Bernadette's primary school is in dire straits and headmistress Mrs Bevans (Pam Ferris) is at the end of her tether. She can barely contain her relief when supply teacher Donald Peterson (David Tennant) arrives to take charge of the excitable pupils, but one disastrous lesson with hyperactive classroom assistant Mr Poppy (Marc Wootton) is enough to convince Mr Peterson he has made a terrible mistake. But he changes his mind when Mrs Bevans promises to make him headmaster if he stays and so help Mr Poppy educate the children for a national choir competition called A Song For Christmas. Before long, Mr Peterson finds himself on the road with Mr Poppy and most of the class in an amphibious tour bus.

TWILIGHT: BREAKING DAWN PART 2 After the birth of Renesmee, the Cullens gather other vampire clans in order to protect the child from a false allegation that puts the family in front of the Volturi.

SKYFALL James Bond's loyalty to M is tested as her past comes back to haunt her. As M16 comes under attack, 007 must track down and destroy the threat, no matter how personal the cost.

MADAGASCAR 3: EUROPE'S MOST WANTED Alex, Marty, Gloria and Melman are still trying to get home to New York. But after a close encounter with tenacious animal control officer Captain Chantel DuBois, they find the perfect cover - a traveling circus.

Your stars with
to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
The Quarter Moon this week suggests if you try to do too much, you could end up with a king-size headache, and totally frustrated. The trick therefore is to pace yourself, be realistic in balancing the fun elements of this time of year, with juggling domestic chores, work, and preparing for Christmas. If you can, professional hopes look promising. Call for more advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
A mixture of very different influences and more homely ones, may see you enjoy a night or two out. But equally, you may be happy to get back to your own environs afterwards. In love, however, glamorous someone is, you will need to feel you have similar values and relate closely to them for this to really prosper. Think of beauty as being skin deep. Libra. Call now for more...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
The early part of this week sees the Sun go face to face with Jupiter, and this can tempt you into really splashing out when it comes to Christmas presents. Then again, you may decide that you are worthy of a treat personally, and decide to open the purse strings. This can be a very sultry time if you are lucky enough to have someone special in your life. Call for your financial scope...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
Your powers of persuasion will have rarely been higher, and if you have a love of food and drink, this can be the perfect way to socialize or to build business links. Yet there may be a tendency to go overboard and have really rich and calorific packed goodies, which could then lead to you packing in a diet. If you do slip, back this up with some super foods. Call for more astral advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
If you've got it, you might find yourself flaunting it this week, whether it is your raw talents, good looks or devastating personality. But equally, with Venus and Mars co-operating so well, you can also achieve some seriously practical progress on financial or business matters. If you really apply yourself, what you put in place can prove to be long lasting. Call for more astral advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
Your natural default is one of enthusiasm, and this can be a fantastic asset this week, as the Sun and your ruler Jupiter combine. However, there is a potential downside, and if you promise something or make a commitment, you will need to deliver on it. So, just be conscious of trying too hard to make a good impression. The trick will be to Just Act Naturally! Call for more news...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
The fall out around one association caused by last week's Mars and Pluto dust up may still be reverberating as this week begins. Yet with Venus and Mars on such good terms, a lot of good can yet come from this. At the least you can be clearer about where you stand with one another. However, the Quarter Moon suggests a few early nights may help. Call me for your love scope...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
You might find yourself thinking about what you can do for those less fortunate than you. This could be for a good cause locally or helping those overseas. There is also the potential for publicly encouraging and exchanges through your network, which can expand in surprising ways. The people that really matter can take on even greater importance. Call for more news and advice...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
There is unlikely to be a lack of possibilities as the Sun and Jupiter are in opposition. This can also see you brimming with positivity. However, the downside is that you might get swept along with something, or someone that distracts you from other more serious matters. A friend can however, prove to be a great help in assisting with a home upgrade. Call for more astral advice...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
Your popularity remains high, but you probably won't want to attend every function or party that an invitee sees you brimming with arrives for, so tact and diplomacy will be important. Away from the social scene, links you have with someone quietly building can start to pay off handsomely. In love, serious matters. A friend or someone may ask a meeting you or going on a date. Call for more...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
If you are hosting people at any time over the winter holidays, you won't want to stint on your preparations and the comfort and welcome that you can provide. So, this is a month when getting the decorative side of your home sorted, or working on family relationships, is going to be excitingly discussing spending some of the winter holiday overseas, on the beach or on the ski slopes. Call for more advice...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
There could be a potential for you to overreach on part of your life just now. Maintaining realistic expectations will be important. However, the thought of a group trip, holiday or adventure can really spur you on. You and a group of friends may even be excitedly discussing spending some of the winter holiday overseas, on the beach or on the ski slopes. Call now for more advice...

IT might not be overstating things to suggest that this SsangYong Korando Sports pick-up is the brand's most important model yet.

While this growing South Korean maker's passenger car models must battle with badge prejudice against more established rivals, this product will sell to pick-up people who've usually no such hang-ups. They simply want the toughest, best value vehicle their funds can give them.

SsangYong likes to think of this pick-up less as a commercial carrier and more as a passenger car with pick-up versatility. We've heard that claim before from the established players in this sector, but applied to vehicles that cost more and offer less.

Pound for pound, this one's different, benchmarked against the best but priced to your pocket.

Proper pick-ups must come complete with a proper separate frame chassis – the mark of a serious off-roader. This might not be a recipe for car-like handling but it'll deliver you a vehicle fit for purpose anywhere from the sands of the Serengeti to the pampas of Patagonia.

On Tarmac, you wouldn't call the Korando Sport's ride absorbent but if you're used to the crude bumpy experience that most other pick-ups provide, it'll be impressive. Enough,

Test Drive

Korando Sports pick-up

perhaps, to make the difference between having to buy a conventional passenger car for driving around when the work day is done or continuing to rely on the varied talents of this SsangYong.

Here we have the only pick-up in the segment with car-like coil springs rather than the rudimentary leaf suspension used by rivals. That makes all the difference to the way this Korando feels.

Under the bonnet lies a piece of technology the brand is especially proud of – its 2.0-litre e-XDi active diesel engine. This powerplant puts out significantly more power than many of its rivals and has been optimised for enough torque to haul a braked trailer of up to 2.3 tonnes in weight.

Off road, this Korando's more than ready to get tough on the rough stuff. It uses a part-time selectable 4WD system that's been reliably proven over some of the most demanding terrain in the world, aided by design that optimises this pick-up both for gradient and waterlogged ground.

SsangYong design has come a long way since the awkwardly styled Musso pick-up that was this Korando's predecessor. Premium brands don't sell in this sector, but if they did a dynamic yet sophisticated look would epitomise the kind of shape they would want to deliver.

The mesh front grille, the trapezoidal bumper and the smart black headlamp bezels combine to create a purposeful front end, while in profile a sharp belt line runs to the rear bumper, emphasising a sleek and, to some eyes, even mildly sporty stance.

Inside, there's a light and airy environment thanks to large front, side and rear windows, while the careful blending of black and metallic finishes along with an LED illuminated cluster has created a smart and refined interior.

It's at the rear, though, where this Korando Sport holds an important advantage over its most direct rivals. The back seat in many a double cab pick-up seems often to be something of an afterthought, cramped for the feet and uncomfortably upright for the back. Not only is there plenty of room for head, shoulders, knees and feet but, rather uniquely, you can recline the rear seat back by up to 29 degrees.

Pick-up pricing has become pretty unacceptable to many potential purchasers in this segment. A rival Ford Ranger, a large Mitsubishi L200 or a tough Toyota Hilux may all tempt you, but their asking prices won't. Nor will the amount of extra money you'll have to spend on them to get the complete spec you'll probably want.

Now take that total figure, then tot it up alongside the proposition SsangYong have for you here. And what's that? Well, as a rough rule of thumb, a Korando Sports pick-up can be yours for the same price including VAT as a competitor will cost excluding it. In other words, this vehicle enjoys a price advantage of around 20 per cent over its competition.

To be more specific, you'll need a budget of not much more than £15,000 excluding VAT (just over £18,000 including it) to get yourself into the entry-level model. Stretching to the plusher SX variant will see a price tag of just under £17,000 (excluding VAT) and around £20,000 including it.

SsangYong's car-like claims for this Korando Sport might to some be suggestive of some compromise in commercial practicality. That's not the case when it comes to size.

A large, flat rear deck provides a 2.04m² load area complete with a standard load deck liner and anchor points so that you can easily tie things down. And while the use of car-like coil springs rather than a utilitarian leaf-sprung set-up means this Korando can't match the one-tonne payload boasted by some rivals, it can offer a total payload of anything between 630 and 645kgs depending on your choice between manual and automatic transmission.

As for running costs, well you won't be expecting a pick-up with a gross vehicle weight of over 2.7-tonnes to be especially frugal, so the return in this case – a quoted 31.4mpg on the combined cycle for the manual model – may be better than you might have feared.

There's a lot to think about when it comes to picking out a pick-up. You're buying one in the first place because you want practical, go-anywhere ruggedness. Yet if at least some of the time it's to serve as your only means of transport, then you also need car-like qualities – real refinement, supple suspension and a comfortable cabin.

And ideally you want all of this, a high specification and a price that looks like a misprint. Yet SsangYong has struggled to provide exactly that and got remarkably close to delivering it.

There are more sophisticated, higher profile choices you could make in this segment but all are painfully pricey and, in most cases, fairly crude to drive on-road. This, the alternative, is not only as honest, reliable and highly capable as every pick-up should be, but crucially it is also better suited to a life on Tarmac than any of its contemporaries.

Young Rams make it two from two

HARLOW Rugby Club's Under-16 team made it two wins from two matches in division three of the Essex League with a 22-15 victory at Basildon.

Poor defence from the visitors let Basildon run in two unconverted tries before Harlow struck back when number eight Jack Christy powered over for an unconverted try in the corner.

YOUTH RUGBY

Harlow trailed 10-5 at the break, but were on equal terms when full-back Rhys Whitby broke well to score an unconverted try.

Christy and Daniel Stevenson then scored a try each.

Daniel DeFranca converted one and Harlow led 22-10.

Basildon then scored a third try from a quickly-taken penalty, but Harlow had done enough to win.

HARLOW (squad): Beard, Bunker, Christy, DeFranca, Dixon-Chennis, Fry, Green, Hodgkinson, Isaacs, Mallardo, Marriott, Penhallow, Seeley, Sharpe, Somerville, Stevenson, Tucker, Whitby.

Harlow U-14s lost 32-0 at home to Luton U-14, conceding four tries in the first half and two after the break.

One conversion was kicked.

Harlow's player of the match was scrum half Mitch Youngs. He was quick to the break down as well as passing and tackling well.

Harlow U-15s won 52-5 at home to Luton.

Other result (Essex League, div one): Upper Clapton 18, Old Cooperians 41.

GB star on board for basketball side

A NEW wheelchair basketball team has been launched and is being coached by former Great Britain international Lee Welch.

The Harlow Hurricanes hosted their first ever matches in the new GB Wheelchair Basketball Development League.

The team, part of Harlow Council's All Ability Sports & Leisure initiative, took on two London-based teams at Mark Hall Sportscentre on Saturday.

Harlow's opponents were Hackney Sparrows and GLL London Titans, both of whom had very experienced players in their squads.

The majority of the 10-strong Harlow team are under 25, including four under 17.

Harlow lost their first match 38-18 to Sparrows.

Points for the Hurricanes were scored by Aiden Savidge (12), Dean Harvey (4) and Connor Hardy-Gray (2).

Harlow went down 45-18 to London Titans in their other match.

The hosts' points were shared by Hardy-Gray (4), Savidge (4), Harvey (6), Hugh Sheffield (2) and Rob Page (2).

In the other match, Titans beat Sparrows 44-42.

Harlow's head coach and manager is Paralympic hopeful Richard Chiassaro, who is a National League first team player for the Essex Outlaws Basketball Club, based in Chelmsford.

NEW LAUNCH: The Harlow Hurricanes wheelchair basketball team

Chiassaro, who is also ranked number one in the T54 100metres and 200m and is one of the top wheelchair racers in the UK, said: "I was really pleased with the team's excellent performance against both of the strong Development League teams."

"They are a young team with great potential."

The All Ability Sports & Leisure (AAS&L) is a self help group founded in 2007.

It has been helping hundreds of disabled people to come and try a new sport, choose a healthier life style and participate in a variety of different activities and wheelchair sports.

AAS&L offers training to disabled people as well as their relatives and friends and others who may be interested in sports.

ASS&L co-ordinator Helen Offord said: "A big thank you goes to the excellent work of Richard Chiassaro and Lee Welch for their great work in coaching the team."

The Hurricanes squad consists of: Ellie Williams, Connor Hardy-Gray, Aiden Savidge, Emma Kirby, Dean Harvey, Rebecca Bateman, Hugh Sheffield, Rob Page, Sara Kite and Matthew Robinson-Jayes.

● Disabled people interested in taking up basketball should head along to practice on Saturday mornings at Mark Hall Sportscentre in London Road (10am to noon). To find out more call Helen Offord on (07986) 603313.

Ladies seal win in thriller

HARLOW 7, ROMFORD & GIDEA PARK 5

STRONG defence from the Harlow Ladies team was the key as they beat Romford narrowly at home in the RFU Women's Challenge SE division one north.

The visitors' main tactic was to run the ball at Harlow in Sunday's clash, but every single Rams player defended superbly. Romford dominated much of the first quarter and Harlow tackled well during this period. But the visitors exploited a gap to score an unconverted try. Subsequent Romford pressure was resisted and at the other end the visitors' defence was sound as the Rams simply could not find a way through.

Harlow improved after the break and began to dominate. Rams' forward pressure was resisted but Romford started to concede penalties and from one of these, the ball was moved wide to outside centre Amy Spearpoint.

She broke clear from her opposite number and then brushed off the final tackle to cross the line and touch down.

Spearpoint kicked the conversion and Harlow led 7-5 with around 10 minutes left.

The closing minutes saw Harlow defend a Romford attack close to their line to clinch victory.

Lock Sarah McCarthy was Harlow's best forward of the match, while full back Lucie Gibson impressed most out of the backs.

Harlow are third in the eight-team table.

HARLOW: Gibson, Hancock, Spearpoint, Lacey, Claxton (Marshall 12), Wilkins, C. Smith, Boggas, K. Smith, Wooler, McCarthy, Lee, King, Steel, Dixon.

Rangers notch first victory of campaign

HERTFORDSHIRE Rangers gained their first victory in the premier division this term when they won 5-2 at Northolt in the Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District Football League.

Rob Bradshaw scored a hat-trick for the visitors, for whom David Gunn and Richard Jones also netted.

Ricky Montebello (2) replied for the hosts.

Division one leaders Hatfield Heath maintained their unbeaten run with a 5-2 win at Birchanger thanks to goals from Chris Bishop (3), James Issako and Mark Vintinner.

Robert Smith and Ross Leavers netted for the hosts.

In division one, Rob Helps and Scott Miecham were on target for Albury in their 2-2 home draw against Lower Street. Graham Learner and Ben Simons replied.

Despite goals from Adam Powell and Adam Scriven, lowly division one side EF Lakers crashed to an 8-2 defeat at premier division basement side Frontiers in the first round of the Interdivisional Plate.

Stefan O'Gordon (2), Jamie Gollidge, Dean Canon, James Phillips, Daniel Wharton, Adam Drew and Simon Gough netted for the hosts.

All the other league and cup matches were postponed due to waterlogged pitches.

Cycling pursuit changes won't halt super Trott

THE man behind Laura Trott's golden London Olympics, coach Paul Manning, admits the future is slightly blurred with changes to team pursuit cycling on the way.

British Cycling women's endurance coach Manning believes that if anyone can cope with the change then it is the Harlow-born cyclist.

Trott, 20, burst into the nation's conscious this summer with her double gold-medal winning performance at London 2012, first in the women's team pursuit alongside Dani King and Jo Rowsell and then going solo to win the omnium.

However the trio's success is unlikely to be repeated with the UCI changing the team pursuit by adding a rider and an extra kilometre onto its current form.

This could threaten Great Britain's dominance in the event, the girls having posted a sixth-straight world record in winning London 2012 gold.

And while Manning accepts that things are going to be different moving forward, he insists that Trott is just the athlete to take it all in her stride.

"Breaking the world record six times in a row and finally at the Games was never part of our plan, the plan was to win the Games and that was just a by-product of a great plan," said Manning, speaking at the UK Coaching Awards 2012, supported by Gillette.

"It is a new event as well. Let's not pretend it was a 20-year-old event that we were trying to break. It was only introduced in 2008 and there was always a learning process to go through, but I guess we had the right individuals to work with.

"The event is actually changing to four kilometres and four girls so this winter is actually the last one in how it is now. This is the last year we will definitely see the 3k, but it gives us a chance to reinvent the team with the same intensity.

"To beat what the girls did in the London Olympic final will take a massive achievement. It is hard getting any team right on the day but our girls seem to have a knack of it.

"If we get anywhere near that

with the extra body over the extra kilometre I will be quite happy and the girls are determined to do the same so with that drive who knows what will happen.

"You would like to think that if anyone can do it it would be our girls but you never know what the future holds."

Trott's success in Glasgow will stand her in good stead for the 2014 Commonwealth Games at the same venue. "You are learning about the next major event which is the home Commonwealth Games in Glasgow which is important," explained Manning.

"But it was difficult for some of the athletes to juggle the demands that come with Olympic success with training as well but it went well and to still win with all that going on was a great achievement."

● Gillette's support of the UK Coaching Awards follows its partnership with sports coach UK earlier this year as part of the 'Great Starts' campaign, introduced to celebrate coaches and inspire the next generation by awarding coaching grants.

Cyclist's G'day after Glasgow success

AS she flew out to Australia for a warm weather training camp with the rest of the Great Britain team, Harlow-born cycling star Laura Trott could reflect on yet another two gold medals won in a major competition.

The 20-year-old has rapidly replaced Victoria Pendleton as queen of the track, and while one Olympian was bowing out of Strictly Come Dancing, the other was spending her weekend doing what she does best - turning everything she touches on the track into gold.

Trott's memorable three days at the Sir Chris Hoy Velodrome, Glasgow for the UCI World Cup began when she picked up gold in the women's team pursuit, and continued over the course of the weekend as she raced to victory in the multi-discipline omnium event.

Perhaps the scariest thing about Trott's achievement was her insistence that she was "only having a bit of fun."

Already being described by some commentators as a legend of the track, when she starts going about her task seriously then you can only pity her opposition for the next decade or so.

Trott was back in the competitive saddle for the first time since the Olympics for the pursuit, alongside fellow Olympic gold medal winner Dani King and 18-year-old Elinor Barker, who was making her debut.

The sell-out Glasgow crowd wasn't disappointed as the track specialists took to the velodrome for the evening final against arch-rivals Australia.

The race was closely fought early on, but Great Britain started to pull away and crossed the finish line in 3:21.043 - more than three seconds faster than their qualifying time.

Trott said: "The final wasn't great - it was really hard, especially considering we were 10 seconds slower than the Olympics.

"We were just enjoying it and the home crowd was great. We're just having some fun. When it really means something like the World Champs then we will really go for it and race."

Trott won her second gold medal in the omnium.

Hawks boss eyes striker

Mackie turned down an approach from Ryman League premier division club Wingate & Finchley to join them.

Central defender Liam Thomas has been ruled out for another two weeks after suffering a setback with a groin injury in training.

Defender Mark Taylor could also be out for a month at least. "He is suffering from a groin injury. The pain can spread in the groin or to the bottom of his stomach. He might need an operation," said Chapman.

Contrary to information the club supplied to the Star last week, striker Jeff Hammond has joined fellow Blue Square South side Billericay Town and not Grays Athletic.

Meanwhile, Harlow Town have rearranged their away match against Tilbury in Ryman League division one north which was called off on Saturday due to a waterlogged pitch.

This will now take place on Tuesday December 11.

Howe about that!

ONLY one match took place in the whole of the Harlow & District Football League due to the wet weather.

Cesars Palace went down 3-2 at home to Theydon Bois in division three.

Marc Howe was the hero and villain for Cesars.

He scored a goal but was later sent off.

The other home goal was scored by Daniel Martin.

HARLOW Tennis Club men's third team beat David Lloyd Basildon by three rubbers to one at home in a winter league fixture.

Harlow's first pair of Harry Melliush and Abi Akinrowo comfortably won the first rubber by 10 games to 3 against the David Lloyd first pair.

Lloyd and Stingemore played very steadily.

In the reverse rubbers, Akinrowo and Melliush were again too strong for the opposition and won by 10-5.

In the other rubber Lloyd and Stingemore threw away a 7-4 lead and went down 10-7.

Seven up for Solomon at UK Championships

MARK Hall School pupil Canaan Solomon, above, achieved an excellent seventh spot when he competed in the U-15 3km race at the McCain UK Cross Country Championships.

Saturday's event at Sefton Park in Liverpool saw Solomon (14) clock 10 minutes and 21 seconds and he was just 16 seconds behind winner Josh Kerr from Edinburgh AC.

The event was also a European trial for the U-20 senior men's and women's categories.

Solomon was also the first Year 9 pupil to finish the combined Year 9 and 10 race.

Burnt Mill pupils Amelia Barrett, (16) and Perry Rowan (16) also did well in high-quality fields.

In the U-17 4.4km girls race, Barrett was 34th in 17.42 while Rowan was 46th in the 5.5km boys U-17 race in 19.35.

Murtagh breaks Harlow record

RUNNING

A HARLOW Running Club record was broken once again as member Steve Murtagh put in a fantastic performance at the Chelmsford 10K race which also doubled as the Essex 10K Championships.

Murtagh finished 13th out of 483 finishers and was second veteran 40 in a personal best (PB) time for the distance of 34 minutes and 10 seconds, which earned him the Essex silver medal for his age group and also set a new HRC Vet 45 record.

He was followed home by Jamie Jephcott (85th in 39.50), Adrian Fell (122nd in 42.26), Sean Flynn (137th in 43.26 PB), Daniel Jephcott (146th in 43.40) and Andy Kinney (233rd in 48.07).

Jamie Jephcott and Andy Kinney performed especially well considering they had both completed a full marathon only the previous weekend.

Hat-trick hero helps Harlow hit back

CRAIG Cholerton fired in a hat-trick to give Harlow a solid home win over Chelmsford's third team.

The hosts went ahead after 15 minutes on Saturday when Cholerton intercepted a bad Chelmsford pass before going on to score.

Harlow skipper James Smith thought he had got the ball over the visitors' goal line just before the break but no goal was awarded.

Cholerton doubled the advantage from an acute angle on 50 minutes after linking

HARLOW 3, CHELMSFORD III 0 EAST MEN'S HOCKEY LEAGUE, DIV FOUR SOUTH EAST

well with James Munro.

Harlow then resisted Chelmsford pressure before the third goal came from a breakthrough just before the end.

Cholerton completed his hat-trick from a rebound after Munro's initial shot was blocked by the keeper.

Harlow skipper Smith said: "Craig took his goals very well and he has been playing well."

"We have been leaking goals and our new formation [with four and not three in midfield] worked well."

HARLOW Johnson, Castle, Plumridge, Cox, Grace, Smith, Krzoska, Mace, Kirk, Munro, Cholerton.

● HARLOW Ladies leapfrogged Old Loughtonians III when they beat them 2-0 at home and are now fifth in the Essex League premier division. Sandra Turner and Carolyn Welsford netted for Harlow.

Kids from U-6 to U-9 can take part in the trials from 2.30pm to 3.30pm with U-10s to U-14s given their opportunity from 3.30pm to 4.30pm at the Passmores Academy 3G artificial pitches.

The advanced training programme will take place on a weekly basis over the coming months and focus on improving all aspects of a player's performance.

Coaches based at the centre have worked in football development programmes in the region for many years.

THE ARSENAL WAY: Youngsters compete in a match at an Arsenal Soccer School

Arsenal's talent identification officer for Harlow, Ollie Ruttle, said: "We want youngsters to progress and to improve their skills. We also want youngsters to enjoy themselves. "The intention is to get the players on board first and teams organised before we get any fixtures organised in the

Mighty Warriors wound Hawks

IT was expected to be a season of transition for Harlow Hawks and so it is proving as results continue to be up and down.

There was little to pick between the two teams at the end of the first quarter, but after that the Watford-based Herts Warriors scored freely to surpass the 100-point barrier.

Harlow started a little slow as the home side jumped out to a quick six-point lead, before the Hawks began to settle into the game.

When the Hawks were able to break through it gave them opportunities at the basket, but it also forced them into a number of turnovers.

Accurate shooting from player-coach Shab Niaz and Dave Spashett saw the Hawks claw their way back into the contest and take the lead.

However, this was short lived as Warriors tied the game with the last shot of the quarter to leave the score locked at 17 apiece.

Again it was the Warriors that started the period the quicker of the two teams, adding seven swift points.

Harlow responded with a neat three-pointer from Nick Moss and two buckets inside from Mark Haddow to bring the deficit to just two points.

A few missed lay-ups from the Hawks cost them as consistent scoring from the Warriors allowed them to open up a lead again.

The hosts were 42-33 up at half-time.

The third period saw the Warriors dominate as they really upped the tempo of the game and begin to hit the basket with ease.

Turnovers and missed lay-ups for the Hawks began to take its toll as a few heads began to drop and a lack of effort on transition defence allowed the Warriors to run in a number of uncontested lay-ups.

The home side were in total control with the score 74-50 at this stage.

Niaz tried took a time-out and tried to rally the troops and asked everyone to give everything they had and play with pride.

This gained a response on the offensive end as Harlow played freely and began to make their shots.

Niaz himself showed the touch from beyond the arc by draining three three-pointers, while Russ Stonehouse ran the floor for easy baskets at the rim.

The only problem was the Hawks struggled to stop the Warriors scoring at the same rate as both teams traded baskets in an explosive manner.

This resulted in Warriors claiming a 106-80 victory.

The Hawks host Genting Raiders tomorrow (Friday) at the Harlow Leisurezone. HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (23pts), Moss (15pts), Spashett (14pts), Stonehouse (10pts), Allan (6pts), Norkelinas (6pts), Haddow (4pts), Lenihan (2pts).

Vital win for Rams boosts quest to beat the drop

THE Rams' fight against the drop was boosted as they recorded a home victory over fellow strugglers Old Brentwoods.

It was Harlow's second successive win and moved them above Sudbury into 10th spot in the 12-team table, a point behind Brentwoods (ninth).

Conditions on Saturday were atrocious and although Harlow dominated, they were not clinical enough.

Harlow skipper Shaun Roberts said: "I was very pleased to win a second game in a row. It's pleasing. We did not play particularly well and dropped the ball a few times, but we found a way to win."

The Rams exerted considerable pressure in the first 10 minutes and enjoyed two rolling mauls close to the visitors' line which were kept out by stubborn Brentwoods defence.

Brentwoods then opened the scoring when a flanker peeled off from a line-out for a try which was converted. Harlow had the edge for the rest of the first half, but could not score and shortly before half-time, the hosts' Danny Smith missed a penalty.

Playing with the slope in their favour in the second half, Harlow bounced back with two tries on 50 and 60 minutes.

A visitors' clearance kick was charged down by Paul Eynon and the Rams' number eight won the race to the line against the final defender to touch down an unconverted try.

Then from a line-out close to the visitors' line, the ball was won by Harlow before winger Will Grimley was driven over by the home pack for the touch down.

Roberts added: "It was good to have Will Grimley back from honeymoon and he did very well. He was man of the match."

Smith's conversion went in off a post and put Harlow 12-7 ahead.

The hosts resisted Brentwoods pressure before the former's third try on 72 minutes.

A home attack saw full back Rob Mackie come into the line and burst through to touch down.

Smith kicked the conversion.

Brentwoods were given a penalty with two minutes left and opted to run the ball and powered over for a try which was converted which meant they lost by just five points and this gave them a bonus point.

Roberts added: "We were in their half for virtually the whole of the second half and I thought the scoreline flattered them a bit, but it showed the value of the bonus point where teams play to the end."

HARLOW: Mackie, Webb, L. Bowering, Dobson, Grimley, Smith, Powell, Ephgrave, Stonehouse, Wright (Roz 50), Twiner, Unwin (Hawkins 55), Roberts, James, Eynon. Sub not used: McGlone.

Hawks boss eyes striker

DANNY Chapman hopes to get in at least one new forward before Harlow Town's home clash against close rivals Waltham Abbey in Ryman League division one north this Saturday.

The Hawks boss has made two seven-day approaches to strikers playing at the same level as Harlow.

They come after striker Jeff Hammond left the club.

Chapman said: "I do have oiers Wixon and Mitchell Das, but I would like someone like Jeff Hammond who can play off the centre-half's shoulder and who is strong."

Midfielder Sam Deaney has rejoined Harlow and could feature against Abbey.

Chapman said: "Sam is now in the right shape and he has that ability to score goals."

The Harlow manager is aware of the rivalry that exists with their neighbours down the Crooked Mile.

They are managed by Paul Wickenden, who was reserve team manager at Harlow. Paul's father Ray, a Harlow stalwart of the 1980s, is assistant boss.

The Abbotts are also skipped by former Hawks midfielder Tom Bruno and have forward James Peagram in their ranks which adds spice to the clash.

Chapman said: "They are only up the road from us. It's a local derby and it will be an interesting game and a tough match for us."

Harlow's league game at Tilbury last Saturday was called off because of a waterlogged pitch but they go into the Abbey game on the back of two successive wins.

Chapman said: "We will be looking to continue from where we left off. Hopefully the weather will be better."

Meanwhile, Harlow received good news when talented midfielder Hector

Relief as heart scare over

THERE is relief at Harlow Town that Jordan Gill's suspected heart problem has now been resolved.

The left-back, pictured, went for tests and it appears he was suffering from inflammation of a heart muscle.

Gill (19), who joined from fellow Ryman League division one north club Ware in the summer, has so far made 14 league and cup games which have included 11 starts.

The last came in the 3-2 home defeat against Romford on October 27 when he was substituted.

He should be fit for Harlow's home league game against close neighbours Waltham Abbey this Saturday.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "He has had a virus on his heart and he got the results from the heart specialist last week.

"He is okay and he will train fully this week. He did a bit of light training last week. It's a massive relief for everyone for him as a human being, not just as a footballer."

Prior to being at Ware, Gill was also with Chesham United.
